Highlights of Speeches Delivered Here During Teachers' Meeting Are Gathered

The five great tendencies of present day education, named by Dr. A. Linscheid, president of the State Teachers College at Ada, Okla., are: 1. The increasing number of high school and elementary pupils, and the rapid growth of registration in higher schools of learning; 2. The realization of the degree of individual differences among pupils; 3. The search for accurate objective measures; 4. The increasing regard for the right of individual students; 5. The tremendous interest in teacher preparation.

"While in Lucknow I had the pleasure of an evening with Mr. Gandhi," Dr. E. L. Hendricks, president of the State Teachers College at Warrensburg said in his address, "And I obtained from him his views in regard to American contributions to Indian life. Mr. Gandhi expressed his appreciation of mission schools but declared that we proselyte in that we maintain the schools for the purpose of securing adherents to our churches. This, Mr. Gandhi resents because he holds that his religion is as good as ours. In fact, he declared, that Christ was more oriental than occidental."

"Don't carry a chip on your shoulder," is the advice of Miss Florence Hale of Augusta, Me., president of the National Education Association, given to the teachers at the meeting here. "Teachers lose out because they cannot see themselves as others see them. Don't be cranky, sour in your attitude on everybody, forgetful of youth, and unduly critical if you expect to maintain your job."

Judge Marcus A. Kavanagh of the Superior Court in Chicago, in his address Friday afternoon said, "The legal profession is responsible for the present status of the American laws. I do not want to take honor from them in the achievements they have been truly wonderful, such as the writing of the Declaration of Independence, and the

College Brevities

Harvey "Whoop" Hollar, B. S. '31 now principal of schools at Kearney, was not able to get to the teachers meeting last week but he reports that he saw a real football game on the College field Friday night. Harvey's outdoor basketball team has won five of their six games this fall.

All but three of the Gentry county rural school teachers were present at the district teachers meeting here last week and these three plan to attend the state meeting in St. Louis November 11 to 14. This was the report of Miss Reta Mitchell county superintendent of schools in Gentry county. Miss Mitchell said that she had sixty-six teachers at the meeting which with herself made sixty-seven.

Miss Ruth Blanshan, of the Home Economics Department of the College, has her niece, Miss Leone Frantz of Grand Junction, Iowa, as her guest for this week.

Miss Blanshan attended the Iowa State College home-coming and saw Iowa State defeat the Missouri Tigers.

President Lamkin told those former students who were gathered at the former student rally, Friday night, that he thought the former M. S. T. C. students had been having a get-together meeting in the halls of the Administration building all during the teachers meeting. He jokingly said that he believed the former students, visited, and sent the strangers in to hear the speakers in the departmental and other sessions. Mr. Lamkin also told the group that if former students thought that it took a long time for students to get to classes in the old days, that they should see the time it takes students and others to get to assembly once in a while now days.

H. N. Schuster, instructor of voice in the college conservatory of music is holding try-outs for the college male quartet.

Charles A. Lee, state superintendent of schools, told the district teachers, "Before Missouri can say that she is giving as much attention to the support of public schools as it is the penal institutions, larger appropriations for the schools will be necessary."

"Missouri can well afford to make a larger contribution for the support of education. Of the forty-eight states in the Union Missouri now ranks thirty-eighth in the state contribution for each child."

The advice to the teachers from Joe Bracken of Clayton, president of the Missouri Teachers Association is "Be kind and just, but devilish firm."

"Some people are as dead as they'll ever be because of discouragement," Miss Hale, Pres. N. E. A.

"No one is so blind as the one who will not see."—Miss Helen White, Maryville.

"Machinery is a sin to our country because it diminishes labor."—Gandhi, quoted by Dr. Hendricks, Warrensburg.

"Where the churches are full, the prisons are empty; and where the prisons are full the churches are empty."—M. A. Kavanagh, Judge Superior Court, Chicago.

"Pay your debts, particularly the one to yourself."—Miss Irene O'Brien, State Rural Supervisor.

"An optimist is the person that takes the lemon that is thrown at him and makes lemonade out of it."—Miss Hale, Pres. N. E. A.

Will Present Play Thursday Evening

"The Rose of El Monte" Is Glamorous Story Well Acted by Talented Cast.

The three-act play, "The Rose of El Monte" will be given Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the College Auditorium. The setting is at "Rancho El Monte" in Southern California. Estaban (Marion Gibbons) "lofe" the Spanish Senorita, Rosita. The Colonel (Russell Noble) is deceived by his nephew, Boone (Wilbur Heekin) who takes advantage of the privileges his uncle gives him. Just as Boone is seemingly carrying out his plans, his wife (Inez Ebersole) is carried into the ranch. Boone induces his wife to give a signal for him. Wong, (Carl Leroy Fisher) the Chinese servant, is faithful to the Colonel's every need.

Ramona (Margaret Coffman) the wise old Indian cook, Estaban, Wong and Rosita go down the trail to look Boone's plans. When the party returns Rosita, the pride of the Colonel's heart is missing. Visiting at the ranch are Darlene (Doris Wallace) and her mother, Mrs. Goodwin (Elizabeth Barrows). Mrs. Goodwin is determined Darlene shall marry the Colonel, but Darlene wants "life, and love and youth." Pete, (Ernest Stallings), who plots with Boone against the Colonel thinks Mrs. Goodwin "a right smart lady." Jim Steele (Edson Miller) foreman of the ranch proves that he can handle romance quite as well as business.

Marion Gibbons in his first play on our campus is making himself out-standing in the excellent portrayal of the Mexican amant, Carl Leroy Fisher's character portrayal is created in the vivid interpretation of the talkative old Chinese servant, Doris Wallace, a new major in speech, is earning her spurs in her initial campus role with a true to life portrayal of the flapperish coquette from New York. Mrs. Goodwin is cleverly portrayed by Elizabeth Barrows, a flapperish widow and over-zealous mother. Ernest Stallings, another major in speech, is creating a smooth, likeable villain.

Between each act specialty numbers will be given:

1. Serenade Mexicana—Estaban (Marion Gibbons) sings in Spanish La Galandrina (the Swallow) to his charming Senorita, Rosita (Fayne Pickering).

2. Danza Espanol—Estaban (Marion Gibbons) and Rosita (Fayne Pickering).

3. "The Bandalero," song of a gypsy bandit—Jim, foreman of El Monte Rancho, (Edson Miller).

4. A—As in little old New York, Darlene (Doris Wallace) sings her own parody on "Am I Blue." B. Amor America, Jim (Edson Miller) sings to his Senorita, Rosita.

Tickets are now on sale at Kuchs Brothers. The admission price for those who do not have activity tickets is thirty-five cents. No extra charge for reserve seats. Minor activity tickets are good.

The announcement of the four tower queens who are being selected by James Montgomery Flagg, magazine illustrator of New York City, will be one of the features of the coronation ball this year.

Dr. J. W. Hake, chairman of the Physics department of the college was recently re-elected chairman of the Faculty Council. This will be Dr. Hake's third year of service in this capacity. Among other duties he acts as president in the absence of Dr. Lamkin.

The college has the largest fall enrollment in its history. President Lamkin said he was waiting for one more to make 700.

Miss Marjorie Sawyer, B. S. '31, who is now teaching at Plattsburg, as treasurer of the M. S. T. C. Alumni Association, assisted in receiving alumni and former student dues during the teacher meeting.

New School Law Is Hailed as Excellent Legislation

The first paragraph of an article which shows the advantages of larger school districts for Missouri and which appears in the October issue of the official organ of the Missouri State Teachers Association, The School and Community Magazine is given here: "The school law, passed by the 1930-31 Missouri Legislature, will go down as one of the greatest pieces of legislation in the history of the Commonwealth. The state has recognized its responsibility and proposes to give every child, whether urban or rural, twelve years of education at public expense." The article found on pages 361-363 in the magazine was written by Dr. J. Leslie Lawing, superintendent of the Maryville public schools.

"A man's race or color means nothing if he's a gentleman."

Plans For Dad's Day Program Have Been Completed

The Dads Day committee met in room 326 last Wednesday morning and completed their plans for Dad's Day Friday, Oct. 30. Registration of Dads will take place from 8 until 10 o'clock Friday morning, in Social Hall.

The dads will then be taken on a tour of the various places of interest on the campus. An effort will be made to make the dad's more generally acquainted. A banquet will be served at 12:30 at residence hall, and at four of the churches in the city.

About three hundred dads are expected and the committee expects to feed approximately six hundred dads and students. A good entertainment has been provided for the afternoon. In the evening everyone will attend the football game between the Bearcats and the University of Missouri "B" team. Everyone's co-operation is needed to make this day a real day for all concerned.

Bearcats' Running Attack Beats Rolla

N. W. S. T. C. Eleven Upsets Advance Predictions in 6 to 0 Victory.

A highly under-rated Bearcat team stepped forth and overcame all odds as well as prejudices to defeat the much-touted team of Rolla Miners 6 to 0 on the college field last Friday night. The victory was the fourth out of as many starts this season as a result of a break near the last of the first half, when Otis Smith, comparatively obscure Bearcat lineman, grabbed a partially blocked Rolla pass and galloped thirty yards for a touchdown.

Good Running Attack.

The Bearcats, rated the under-dogs before the game started, exhibited some of the best football ever seen on the new field. To those who had any doubts as to Maryville ability on running plays, it sufficed to say that run after run off-tackle and through center proved the Bearcat line capable of opening all kinds of holes, and the ball carriers able to find them. Several times Fischel, Phelps, and Hodgkinson broke through the lineup for long gains, and at one time impressively reeled off three first downs in one-two-three order before the minors had time to call time out.

The biggest crowd this season, including the visiting teachers, was thrilled to see the Bearcats immediately jump into an offensive at the opening of the first quarter and get the ball to the one-yard line early in the game by recovering a fumble, making several line plays, and taking advantage of a twenty-five-yard penalty. Three plays at the center of the line failed to make yardage and Rolla punted out of danger.

Show Good Defense

In the last half, a similar situation arose, but with the tables reversed. On the defense, the Bearcats showed a wall that could not be penetrated at the one-yard line, and on fourth down a Rolla pass was knocked to the ground to stop the threat.

The game was by far the best football affair seen here this season. The Rolla quarterback, Thornton, was sensational, taking the brunt of Rolla's running attack upon his own shoulders.

This week, the Bearcats meet the Missouri University "B" team on the field here, before the "Dads" who will be visiting the college "Dads Day."

The lineup:

MARYVILLE	POSITION	ROLLA
Marion Gibbons	Quarterback	Malik
Hedgie	Running Back	Gibson
W. Dowell	Running Back	Runder
Ruth	Running Back	E. Spott
Sullivan	Running Back	Stewart
R. Dowell	Running Back	Sturm
Hedgie	Running Back	Kirehoff
Milner	Running Back	R. Thornton
Hodgkinson	Running Back	R.H. McDonald

Substitutions: Maryville—Shelden for Mahood, Smith for W. Dowell, Dunham for Sullivan, Moore for Ruth, W. Dowell for Smith, Sullivan for Dunham, Mahood for Shelden and Ruth for Moore.

Alpha Sigma Alpha Pledges
The Phi Phi Chapter of the Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority on the campus announced the pledging of the following girls: Virginia Uiz, St. Joseph; Mildred Hotekin, Maryville; Grace Englehardt, Gallatin; Georgia Shulte, Oregon; Lenore Skelton, Oregon; and Lucille Stewart, Savannah.

The active membership includes: Loreta Gooden, Grace Helen Goodson, Margaret Maxwell, Katherine Gray, Margaret Dysart, Martha Pfeiffer, Ola Siegle, Margaret Knox, Sylvia Clauser, Virginia Myers, R. Dell Chick, Dorothy Whitmore, Betty Hickernell, Mary Powell, Gwensere Wiley, Evelyn Wiley, Louise Smith, Anna Mae Adams, Marion Gann Vall, Isabelle McDaniel Stalcup, and Thelma Stoneburner Somerville.

"I'll marry the Colonel if I can."

"Why you—Why I'll kill you."

Alumni Have Good Time at Big Rally

Former Bearcat Athletic, Forensic, and Class Leaders Are Introduced.

The group attending the College Alumni and Former student-get-together, in the College Auditorium Friday evening before the Rolla game, was agreeably surprised and pleased when, after reference had been made to the famous onion patch which once upon a time graced the campus in front of the Administration building, a man stood up and said, "Pardon me ladies and gentlemen, but I happen to be one of the boys who hoed in the onion patch." This man was Charles Bryant, a Buchanan county teacher, who also stated that he had been graduated four times at the College but had never gone through any formal graduation exercises. He had completed his high school training at the College high school, completed his thirty, sixty and one hundred and twenty hour certificates, but had never attended any graduation exercises.

Former Leaders Cheered.
At the call of the chairman students who had attended the old Seminary building stood before the group, as did members of nearly all classes which have been graduated from the old Normal and M. S. T. C. since the beginning.

At this meeting were former Bearcat football men, basketball men, track men and baseball men. There were captains of these teams present. Former Student Council officers, class presidents and officers, members of former College debate teams, dramatic clubs, College choruses, glee clubs, bands and orchestras and other leaders in activities at M. S. T. C., in former years, received the cheers of those present when they stood in their turn.

Richard "Dick" Runyan, now teaching at Fillmore, was the only former yeller present, and Richard "Dick" Kirby, now superintendent of schools at Sheridan, was the only office boy and mail carrier present. Kirby at one time also served as student officer, as football captain and basketball captain, being an outstanding Bearcat center, while Runyan was a captain in track. Eldon Steiger, superintendent of schools at Ravenwood, and Runyan, were members of the S. T. C. relay team which broke one of the records at the famous Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa, a few years ago. Steiger also served as captain of the track team and other athletic teams at the College.

Sawyers Brothers Attend.

The Sawyers brothers, H. S. "Torchy" Sawyers, superintendent of schools at Maitland and C. D. "Pete" Sawyers, superintendent of schools at Mirabile, came in for honors as leaders in activities at the College in the past, as did Aldrich, a former Bearcat and many others present.

Torchy Sawyers was approximately first in the race for having been connected with the greatest number of activities while in school, while Alva Allen, county superintendent of schools of Harrison county came near to winning the "time or various times in school," at S. T. C. contest.

Women Honored.
The former women students of the College also came in for a great share in the honors, for having been leaders in the activities at S. T. C., in the past, even if Miss Irene O'Brien, of the State Department of Education, did refuse to admit certain accusations concerning attendance at school at certain times which would indicate information as to her age.

A. H. "Bert" Cooper seemed to enjoy the meeting in its entirety and especially did he like the story which R. Harvey Watson, the chief speaker of the evening, now superintendent of schools at King City, told about students accidentally or otherwise tripping each other by stepping on the ends of the boards on the old Seminary board walk.

President Lamkin and Lowell L. Livengood, president of the Alumni Association briefly addressed the group.

GUESS WHO?

The character in last week's "guess who" corner was Mr. Homer T. Phillips, member of the college faculty.

This week's edition of guess who is an upperclassman, a member of the Sigma Tau Gamma, is quite prominent in athletics. He is very tall, maybe handsome, because of his stature and complexion. He is a good Bearcat although he never lets duty interfere with pleasure.

Will Address Y. M.

H. R. Dietrich, of the College faculty, will address the Y. M. C. A., Wednesday evening at the College in room 205. His subject will be, "The Marks of a Scholar and How to Study."

STROLLER

The Stroller has a "Guess Who" for you—Now you guess—Who is it that when he awakens in the morning, if he has been asleep, during the night, and wonders if he is alive or dead—that wonders if he dares to move—and if he does move, wishes that he hadn't? Who is it that rolls out of bed sideways, if he is able to get out, and squirms and reaches and reaches and labors to get into a shoe, and really needs someone to lace the shoe and tie the knot? Who is it that when he beholds himself in a mirror, if he is able to see out of his eyes, may notice that he has one or two black eyes, a tip out of usual proportion and perhaps other out-of-the-ordinary marks about his features? Who is it—in the wee small hours of the night when the flood lights have closed their eyes, and side line watchers are probably resting peacefully, that sometimes wonders in his pain and sleeplessness, perhaps sometime as did Longfellow, in his "Psalm of . . . life is real . . . and the goal . . . and the grave?—Well! The Stroller doesn't wish to keep anyone waiting for traidelasts so he'll just tell you in case you haven't guessed it that it's most any loyal Bearcat, after having had a part in most any football game like the one the other night.

Mr. Mehus (coming into the housing committee office) Say, none of these teachers coming in on the train will ride with me?

"What did these teachers come here for?" a freshman asked Dicky Barrett acidly, as Richard stood entertaining a group of visiting school marm's, "to see you or attend this meeting?"

At the Game: Co-ed—"Oooh, Wool! Lost: a trombone, smashed at football game.

Still wondering why long skirts came back.

Yes I was at the game Friday!

The Stroller has often wondered why we couldn't have a nice ice skating place somewhere on the campus and now his dreams are about to come true, that is if the trucks keep on backing up to the back door of the administration building. The wheels of the trucks have cut a nice big ditch in the lawn right along each side of the sidewalk and all we will need is one more big rain and a good freeze and the skating should be good in the back yard of the Administration building.

An Evening With DeWolf Hopper

The outstanding musical production during the Teachers' Meeting was the presentation of DeWolf Hopper, America's foremost comedian, and his cast of players and singers Thursday afternoon and night. Mr. Hopper has been on the stage for 53 years, but his agility and supple manner belie the fact.

The production was given in two parts. Part I consisted of a series of vocal numbers including Mr. Hopper before the curtain, and his rendition of "Casey at the Bat" was immense. Part II was "Highlights of a Great Comic Opera Career" and included "Sixty Minutes of the Mikado", a complete story presented in costumes.

Who is "The Rose of El Monte"?

It is fitting indeed that an institution of learning such as this college should recognize the influence of Dad, in the life and education of the boys and girls of today. It is only fair that we should give one day of the school year to honor the one who has been our friend since childhood in sorrow and joy, in the hour of hope and the depth of despair. It is the great privilege and honor of this institution and the stu-

Ruth Bryan Owen Will Speak Here

Daughter of "The Commoner" Is Noted For Eloquence; to Be Here Nov. 9.

The major entertainment of the fall quarter, and perhaps the outstanding entertainment of the year is the coming of Ruth Bryan Owen, Congresswoman from Florida, November 8. Mrs. Owen is the second national figure to take our platform during the past year. She adds to a unique background of experience a record of exceptional achievement; and her oratorical ability has given her the means of contact with millions of her fellow citizens. For the past ten years, she has been one of the most popular figures on the lecture platform.

The press notes have the following to say on her personal history: "She was born in Jacksonville, Illinois, to be the first woman ever politically to represent that far-southern section below Jacksonville, Fla."

Daughter of William Jennings Bryan and Mary Baird Bryan, her childhood environment was public questions.

Her own romance took her into far places. As wife of Major Reginald Owen, M. C., she lived in London, Egypt, the West Indies. In war-time in London, she was a member of the executive committee of the American Women's War Relief Fund, which financed and operated a war hospital at Palginton, Devonshire. Later, in Egypt, she served as war nurse in the voluntary aid detachment in the Egypt-Palestine campaign—a little-known, but very significant sector of the world war, fought on deserts traditioned-hallowed from Bible times.

Of this experience she tells in her lecture, "Modern Arabian Knights."

Sigma Tau Delta Meets to Form Plans For Year

Epsilon Gamma Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary literary fraternity, met in Miss Dyke's apartment at 611 N. Buchanan recently.

A discussion of plans for the year was held. It is planned to hold an alumni meeting on Friday, Oct. 23.

An open meeting for all students interested in creative writing will be held soon. All visitors are invited to bring manuscripts.

Sigma Tau Delta has fifty-eight chapters in colleges all over the country. Its aims are to advance the study of literary masterpieces, to encourage worthwhile reading, to promote the mastery of written expression, and to foster a spirit of fellowship among students specializing in the English language and literature.

Epsilon Gamma Chapter was organized in Maryville on May 10, 1930.

Over the Library Desk

President Lamkin has presented to the College Library a picture sent to him by Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, in appreciation of Mr. Lamkin's work in helping to stamp out illiteracy.

This picture, drawn by James Montgomery Flagg, has been hung on the South wall of the West Library. It shows an old man expressing joy at finally being able to read and write. His words "Thank God! at last I'll be able to read and write" supplement the pleasure he shows in his face and by outstretched arms.

The letter written by Secretary Wilbur to Mr. Lamkin forms an inset in the lower left hand corner of the picture. It is as follows:

"In keen appreciation of your voluntary service in the campaign to conquer illiteracy, I am pleased to be able to present this reproduction of a drawing made for us by the celebrated artist, James Montgomery Flagg. The sense of power and freedom which comes to a grown person who has learned to read and write is IN this line drawing."

"It will, I trust, stir you as it has me, to help everybody possible to possess the tools of full citizenship."

dent body of this college to have opportunity to entertain, not the father of one student but the fathers of all the students in this institution. Let us make use of this opportunity to make the all too short sojourn of the dads a very pleasant and instructive one. Let us act upon the theory that each one of us is a host to all the visiting dads for they will pass judgment upon this college in the light of the impressions they receive here next Friday. If you want your dad to have a good time then make it your business to see that every one has a good time. If you want your father to receive an favorable impression of your fellow students then it is your duty to give all the visitors the same impression. Dad's day can be a success only if everyone co-operates to insure its success.—Wilbur Heekin.

Japan Explains Refusal to Obey League Demands

Nation Is Still Willing to Open Direct Negotia- tions.

Tokyo, Oct. 27.—(P)—With her grip extended from Manchuria into Mongolia, Japan explained today to the capitals of the world why she considers as not binding the League of Nations formula for settlement of the Sino-Japanese dispute calling for evacuation of Chinese territory by Japanese troops by November 10.

Japan feels the urgent need at the present moment is cooperation of the two countries, said a statement tabling to various nations, "and her willingness remains unshaken and unshaken to open negotiations with the Chinese government."

This statement reiterated Japan's contention that the "whole Manchurian affair was occasioned solely by a violent and provocative attack by the Chinese army on the South Manchurian railway zone," which is under Japanese treaty control.

"Certain small contingents of Japanese soldiers, still remaining outside that zone, are insistently demanded by the danger to which a large population of Japanese in which region are exposed," the statement continues. "The presence of such a limited number of troops is quite incapable of being represented as a means of dictating to China Japan's terms for the settlement of the present difficulties."

The statement emphasizes that nothing is farther from the thoughts of Japan than to bring armed pressure to bear in the course of the proposed negotiations.

Paris, Oct. 27.—(P)—In responsible Japanese quarters it was said today that negotiations looking toward a settlement of the Sino-Japanese conflict in Manchuria will be carried on here between Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japanese ambassador, and Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, prior to the League of Nations council meeting on Nov. 15.

Mr. Yoshizawa represented his government in the recent League council meeting at Geneva, M. Briand was chairman of that meeting.

orchestra in the fashionable night club, the Central Park Casino, was playing "Oupki On the Birthday Cake" and Mademoiselle Jose Leval was dancing with Mayor James J. Walker. Monsieur Leval was watching with an expansive smile, and a group of socially important persons who were gathered to honor the natal day of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney beamed their approval.

Ship Is Delayed.
The boat waited. Finally, at 1:15 a. m., when Mayor Walker's car rolled up with Jose, the premier close behind, the captain decided to postpone sailing until a more advantageous tide rolled out at 5:30 a. m.

The premier departed feeling that France and the United States—since his conversations with President Hoover—understand each other better and know what to expect. His last day was filled with receptions and sight-seeing, including a meeting with former Governor Alfred E. Smith at the top of Empire State, tallest building in the world, and featured by a dinner of the French Chamber of Commerce at the Waldorf-Astoria. At least 2,000 persons were present and many of them were French.

"Effort Not in Vain"
"We drafted no protocol," the premier told the dinner guests in reference to his conferences with the president, "we were animated by the mutual desire to examine thoroughly in the course of a free and frank discussion, the various problems which the various crises raises."

"Our effort has not been in vain. Our countries are far apart, separated by a vast ocean. Our democracies have not the same constitutional basis. Our political traditions, often differing, suffice to explain certain misunderstandings which from time to time have grown up between us. Henceforth we know where we stand, we know what we want, we know what we can expect."

Here's How Akron and Los Angeles Look Side by Side

There's a whole hangar full of lighter-than-air ships at the Lakehurst, N. J., Naval Air Station now. And in this picture you see how the giant dirigible Akron, greatest of the world's flying crafts, looks in its berth beside the smaller, veteran Los Angeles. The Akron, seen here at the end of its first long flight from its factory at Akron, O., fills one side of the hangar to within fifteen feet of the end. The new mobile mooring mast, shown in the foreground, was reported to have functioned perfectly in landing the air Goliath.

"Co-operation between our two countries will thus become closer, since our governments will have a clearer understanding of their respective interests and their common duties. Thus, even if the conversations in Washington had no other results, they would have fulfilled great hopes. This is the moral benefit of our meeting."

Land Is Sold.

Two warranty deeds were filed recently in the recorder of deed's office. French Carter and Susan C. Carter transferred to Charles F. Carter, Sr.,

Michael Burke Is Dressed in at State. Prison For Life Term

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 27.—(P)—Michael Burke, 17-year-old St. Joseph youth who confessed to the slaying of two men in a series of bold holdups, was dressed in at the Missouri penitentiary today to begin his life sentence on his plea of guilty to the murder of John Brown last December 30.

He was brought to the penitentiary by Sheriff Roach with a dozen other prisoners from Buchanan County and immediately rushed through the routine of prison entrance. No assignment has been given young Burke but prison officials said he probably would be given work in the shoe factory.

Burke was recently released from State Hospital No. 2 at St. Joseph where he was incarcerated after a jury found him insane at a trial on another murder charge. He was declared sane again before he pleaded guilty to the Brown slaying.

Prison officers said they wanted to place Burke where they could keep a close watch on him.

Northwestern Girls Oppose Paying Half Costs of Dates

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Should the girl pay half the cost of the date? No—the reply coming en masse from the co-eds of the University of Chicago and of Northwestern University of Evanston, in reply to a suggestion made by President George Thomas of the University of Utah.

"Why should we?" asked June Mason, secretary of Northwestern University's Junior class. "We never have, we never should, and we never will."

A Halloween party will be held at the hall in Graham October 31.

Five other co-eds asked the question at Northwestern and the University of Chicago gave, in effect, the same answers. Two of them added that their men friends want to pay the bill and wouldn't have it any other way. And the cost, they agreed, is from $8 to $10 for the average date, including theater tickets, dining and dancing.

Truck Operators Hear Explanation of Recent Laws

duty by next month.

Agents for the department are out now getting data for the basis of the rates, but the truckers were told that their own experiences would be used in making the rates. No unreasonable rates will be permitted, as the commission will look to what the traffic can bear, but it is also the intention of the commission to allow a rate of transportation prices which will bring a reasonable return to the operator.

Discuss Specific Problems.
Certain points as affecting individual operators were brought up at the meeting, and one of these concerned the truck operator who hauls livestock to market and then hauls feed back to the farmer for hire. The fact that the vehicle is used for other than hauling farm products to market, places the operator under the motor code. When ways were pointed out that to avoid this, such as the operator claiming to buy the feed and then retelling it, Mr. McDonald said that every law can be broken.

In the years to come, through the experiences of the truckers and the certificates issued, there will develop regular routes which will be patronized just as the railroads and the free-lance trucker territory will become minimized, the agents of the commission predicted.

There are sixteen different forms under which applications for certificates to operate may be made. The truckers were told there are three forms of insurance which the common carriers and the contract hauler must have, cargo, property damage to other users of the road, and public liability. The trucker need not furnish the insurance policy until requested by the commission.

Body of 18-Year-Old Girl Is Discovered in Wisconsin Field

Antigo, Wis., Oct. 27.—(P)—The body of an unidentified girl, about 18 years old, was found last night in a field at Mattoon, Shawano county village. The upper part of the unclothed body had been crammed into a gunny sack with the arms protruding through holes in the sack.

Coroner Harvey Steubenvall, said there were several wounds but that he had not determined what caused them. Bert Lane, a farmer, who found the body, said he was in the same part of the pasture yesterday and the body was not there then.

The girl is white, Deputy Sheriff William Hoffman said, discarding an earlier theory that she was a resident of the Shawano Indian Reservation nearby. Authorities believed the body was brought to the pasture by automobile, possibly from Wausau, during a severe storm last night.

No girl has been reported missing in this section of the state.

He carries it with him, ready for just such times. That little box of Bayer Aspirin. If he catches cold, what of it? Bayer Aspirin will stop it. If his throat feels sore, he will end the soreness with one good gargle made from these tablets.

Dangerous complications can follow the neglect of "a common cold." Every case of tonsillitis began with "just a sore throat." It's a wise plan to take aspirin after any undue exposure to bad weather, or whenever there is any chance that you've caught cold. If it's genuine aspirin it can't possibly hurt you; and how it does banish the aches and pains caused by colds, neuralgia, neuritis, lumbago, and even rheumatism.

Bayer Aspirin will insure your comfort through the worst cold season. The more susceptible you are to colds, the more you need it. Does not depress the heart.

Spoofhounds Are in Good Condition For Big Six Game

Savannah Savages Will Be M. H. S. Opponents Here Thursday.

Coaches Wallace Croy and Bill Smith of the Maryville high school allowed their Spoofhounds the regular Monday evening let-up yesterday. Following an hour of chalk talk and "re-playing" of the Excelsior Springs game, two teams ran signals up and down the field.

Several of the players were not out for practice last night. Coach Croy had told the men that if they had to miss practice he would rather it would be Monday night, for on that day little is done.

On the first team Campbell was at center, Belt and Geist at guards, Kissinger and Wade at tackles, Haselwood and Allen at ends, and Melton, Chick, Cockayne and Schmidt in the backfield. On the other team Miller, Jones, Short, Nelson, Taylor, Dickey, Seyster, Gummig and Donahue were some of those running signals. Harlan Farrah, back, and Elmer Barrook, tackle, were two of the regulars missing from practice.

Team In Good Shape.
Tonight the Maryville high school coaches will have their men working hard for their Homecoming game Thursday afternoon with the Savannah high school Savages. Practice tomorrow night will be stiff, but will be a let up from tonight's workout when a hard scrimmage will probably be held. All of the Spoofhounds are in good shape and will be eager for the game.

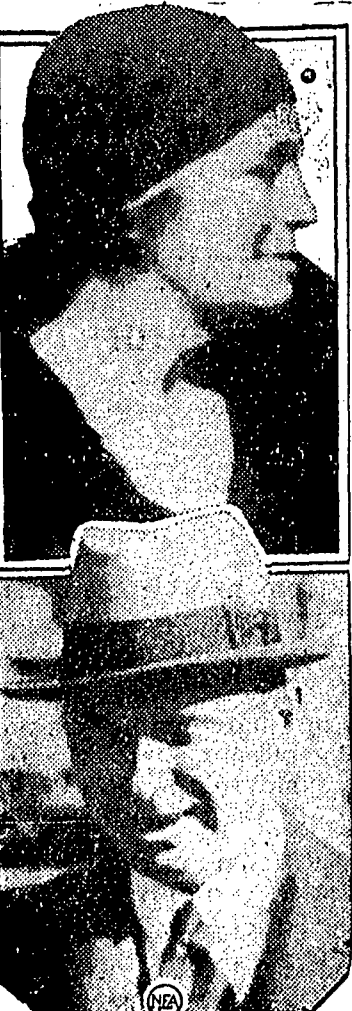

Coach J. O. "Smokie" Keller has a team made up of five lettermen and six reserves from last year. The lettermen are Captain Don Smith, an end and back; Lowell Coy, a tackle; Joe Bonewitz, center; and Dale Seckels and Wiley Vonkaenel, backs. In Smith Coach Keller has a big fast man, while Bonewitz is one of the outstanding defensive centers in the Big Six conference. Seckels is a back that is feared by the opposing teams, for he is always hard to stop. Coach Keller's other men are comparatively light but fast, and there were about forty reporting at the start of the season.

A Conference Game.
Thursday's game will be a Big Six conference contest. The Spoofhounds have a clean slate as far as conference competition is concerned, holding two victories, and standing at the top of the heap. Savannah is still without any games in the "win" column although they have played two. The Savages dropped their first Big Six game to St. Joseph Lafayette, 6 to 0, when a long pass to Rousey, Shamrock end, was caught for a touchdown. The team has improved considerably since their game with Lafayette though, for they held the strong Chillicothe high school Hornets to a 0 to 0 tie last Thursday. Chillicothe tied St. Joseph Benton, last year's champion, 6 to 6.

New York veteran who for years has been recognized by the American National Boxing Association as flyweight champion, has been shown of his crown by a newcomer from Tunis, young Perez.

Oklahoma Works Out For Battle With Iowa State

Kansas City, Oct. 27.—(P)—The show of strength which Iowa State made last week week-end in defeating Missouri presages heavy work this week for the Oklahoma Sooners, loser in two Big Six tilts this season.

With the Cyclone game on his schedule for Saturday, Coach Ad Lindsay abandoned his usual Monday light workout and sent his squad through a rough and tumble scrimmage, with the freshmen using Iowa State plays. The reserve backs did most of the ball carrying.

At Ames, Coach George Veenker expressed satisfaction with the manner in which his team performed Saturday to annex the first Cyclone grid victory in the conference since 1928. The regulars engaged in a light session.

Coach Gwinn Henry, whose Missourians have been defeated in each of their four starts this season, inaugurated secret practice in hopes it would aid the Tiger cause against Nebraska. The Nebraska Huskers held a short practice to enable the regulars to recover from bruises suffered in the Kansas game.

The two Kansas representatives step out of the conference picture this week with Kansas meeting the Oklahoma Aggies and Kansas State journeying eastward to seek revenge for a beating received at the hands of West Virginia a year ago.

Rites For Comiskey Are to Be Held in Chicago Thursday

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(P)—The body of Charles A. Comiskey, baseball "Old Roman," came back to Chicago today to lie in state until funeral services are held Thursday morning.

The body of the owner of the Chicago White Sox, who died at his summer home at Eagle River, Wis., early yesterday, started last night on a 30-mile automobile journey to Rhinelander, Wis., where it was transferred to a train scheduled to arrive this morning.

Services will be held Thursday at 10 a. m., at St. Thomas, the Apostolic Roman Catholic church, and burial will be in Calvary.

Comiskey's last illness came upon him while he still was trying to build a club to replace his American League champions or 1919, which he wrecked after the scandal which followed the World Series that year. He retired to virtual seclusion several years ago when his health began to fail.

Since last March, three of the American League's leaders have passed on. Ernest Sargent Barnard, who became the league's president when fiery Ben Johnson abdicated, died on March 27, and 18 hours later, Johnson himself, followed Barnard. Another of Chicago's militant baseball characters, Charles Webb Murphy, owner of the Cubs during the "Tinker to Evers to Chance" days, died last week.

It is expected that control of the White Sox, which belonged to Comiskey—Franchise, players and park—will pass to his son, J. Louis Comiskey.

Dempsey Is Offered 40 Per Cent of Fight Gate

New York, Oct. 27.—(P)—If he's really serious about that come-back attempt, Jack Dempsey can have 40 per cent of the gate receipts for a match in Miami, Fla., next February against either Victorio Campolo or Primo Carnera.

James J. Johnston, Madison Square Garden promoter, said he had been informed that the old Manassa mauler was prepared to come east to discuss the proposition if necessary. Dempsey is on a hunting trip in Nevada.

Observers here considered it unlikely that Dempsey would accept the terms Johnson has offered, pointing out that the one-time heavyweight champion almost invariably in the past demanded and was given a guarantee. He probably would want half a million for a match against Carnera or Campolo who clash here Nov. 27.

The eight-year-old world's record for the mile run was vanishing beneath the flying feet of Jules Ladoumègue, brilliant French track star, when this picture was taken at the Jean Blun Stadium, near Paris. ## Two Big Ten Grid Teams Will Meet Eastern Elevens

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(P)—The Western Conference will be looking to Michigan and Iowa Saturday to pull it up even with the rest of the country in inter-sectional football.

In eleven inter-sectional contests this season, Big Ten teams have lost five decisions, have won three and tied one. Iowa which has suffered two of the five defeats, appears about ready to win a game this week, with George Washington University of Washington, D. C., as its opponent, while Michigan, which seems to have recovered from its disappointing start, will be a long favorite over Princeton's Tiger.

North conquered Ohio State Saturday, but suffered the possible loss of two regulars, center Harold Weldin and halfback Ken Meenan. The latter probably will be able to play against Illinois Saturday, but Weldin is expected to be missing for two weeks.

Wisconsin and Minnesota, which meet in the most important contest on the Big Ten bill for this week, are bearing down in making ready. Defeat means elimination from the championship race, and the Badgers, in particular, are eager for victory over their old rivals.

For the first time of the season, Purdue expects to have all hands ready for action, and that means nothing but bad news for Chicago. This week, the Maroons, ill-equipped to start with, suffered the loss of three linemen, leaving

Amos Alonzo Stagg with almost no reinforcements.

Indiana's forces are so elated by their one-sided victory over Chicago last week, that hope is entertained for a triumph over Ohio State. The Hoosiers suffered no losses in man power. The Buckeyes, however, will be favored to give Indiana its first beating of the conference campaign.

Coach Hunk Anderson is confident that Notre Dame will defeat Carnegie Tech when they meet at Pittsburgh Saturday, but has not forgotten that 19 to 0 surprise the Skibos handed out in 1926.

Japanese Leaps 26 Feet 2 Inches For World Record

Tokyo, Oct. 27.—(P)—A new world's record for the running broad jump of 26 feet two and 1/4 inches was established today by Chunei Nambu, native Japanese jumper in the National Athletic meet, and a new universal standard of 51 feet one and 1/4 inches for the running hop, step and jump was set by Mikio Oda, the 1928 Olympic champion.

Nambu's new mark displaces by two inches the world mark by S. Cator, of Hawaii, set in Paris in 1928 after the Olympics of that year. Oda broke the record of 50 feet 11 and 3/4 inches set by A. W. Winter, an Australian, at Paris in 1924.

The American records for the two events are 25 feet 11 1/4 inches for the running broad jump, set by Ed Hamm, in the Olympic tryouts at Cambridge, Mass., in 1928 and for the running hop, step and jump, 50 feet 11 inches, set at New York by Daniel F. Ahearn way back in 1911.

The 21-year-old Army football star and honor student died in New Haven Hospital late yesterday of a broken neck suffered late in the Yale game Saturday.

Funeral services will be held in the Catholic Chapel tomorrow afternoon. Interment will follow in the West Point military cemetery where are buried General Winfield Scott, General George Custer, General Robert C. Anderson who was in command of Fort Sumter in '61, General George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, and many another famous military figures of the past.

At the request of Sheridan's mother services both at the Chapel and Cemetery will be private. The corps of cadets and officers of the post will attend.

In the general grief that was felt at the academy over Sheridan's death among cadets and officers alike, there was no disposition to talk, or even think, of what course the Army would pursue in regard to the games remaining on its 1931 football schedule.

But there was a distinct feeling that the team would "carry on" and play out a schedule that calls for games against Colorado College, Louisiana State, Pittsburgh, Ursinus, Notre Dame and Navy. It was pointed out that Army has contract obligations with these schools that hardly can be disregarded. In addition to the inconveniences done opponents, cancellation would involve about $1,000,000 in receipts of which $400,000, estimated receipts of the Navy game, would go to the relief of the unemployed.

Mexico City, Oct. 27.—(P)—The Department of Communications decided today that the broadcasting station at Villa Acuna used by Dr. J. R. Brinkley, Kansas "goat gland specialist," belongs to a group composed entirely of Mexicans, and that its erection was strictly in compliance with the law.

It denied that the concession had been granted to Dr. Brinkley although it said it was being used "almost totally for the dissemination of propaganda by this man."

The department pointed out that a Mexican law forbids the use of radio broadcasts for "propaganda," and added that it was up to the Department of Health to act.

Military Funeral Is Planned For Army Grid Star

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 27.—(P)—Back to West Point today came Richard Brinsley Sheridan, Jr., to find a last resting place with some of America's most distinguished soldiers.

TRUSTFUL WAITING: Our soul waiteth for the Lord: He is our help and our shield.—Psalm 33: 20.

Today, October 27, the people of this nation do honor to its glorious navy, past and present. The traditions which lie behind Navy day are supposed to be brought forth from the closets and again reminded to us.

Navy day is designated for one reason because it is the birthday of the illustrious backer of the navy, President Hoover, and also because on this date in 1775 the members of the Continental congress authorized the first bevy of sloops and other war vessels.

Americans are mighty proud of the past performances of their navy. But right at this moment the people of the Middle West who do not have the opportunities to visit the navy yards have other things on their mind which are causing more thought than an observance of navy day. This day comes at a time when Premier Laval of France is here to confer with President Hoover on war debts and the gold standard; it comes at a time when the people of the country are making tremendous drives to raise more money than ever to care for the foodless this winter; it comes at a time when the business men are putting forth every effort to break the back of the depression; when the bankers of the country are uniting to form a five hundred million dollar stabilizing organization; navy day comes this year when the nation is involved in important local, national and international problems.

One of these is "shall the war debts be reduced?" There are many ways to look at this. Some figure that the big bankers are trying to secure a reduction of the war debts to the U. S., in order that their private loans may be paid; others say that the nation's trade is diminished by the fact that the debtors to the U. S. can't trade with us because they can't even pay the war debts.

Another thing being considered from time to time is the limitation of armaments. Perhaps if the war debts are paid in full the nations will not be able to continue such large appropriations for the armies and navies and thus reduce the hazards of future wars. Regardless, the memory of John Paul Jones will always linger in every American's mind.

How to train BABY'S BOWELS

Babies, bottle-fed or breast-fed, with any tendency to be constipated, would thrive if they received daily, half a teaspoonful of this old family doctor's prescription for the bowels.

That is one sure way to train tiny bowels to healthy regularity. To avoid the fretfulness, vomiting, crying, failure to gain, and other ills of constipated babies.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is good for any baby. For this, you have the word of a famous doctor. Forty-seven years of practice taught him just what babies need to keep their little bowels active, regular; keep little bodies plump and healthy. For Dr. Caldwell specialized in the treatment of women and little ones. He attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

HOPEFUL BUSINESS SIGNS

While the discussions of reparations, British affairs, the ruckus between China and Japan and the visit of Premier Laval of France have bulked large in recent news the keen observer has been able to dig out of these major matters of interest a number of favorable developments in business conditions. Among them may be noted an increase in car loadings, higher volume of building awards in September, a decrease in commercial failures for that month, reports from various sections of the country of a large volume of retail business, a firming up of prices for stocks and bonds and returning confidence in the wheat market which now shows a gain of 13 cents over the low point of three weeks ago. From abroad comes the report that following the abandonment of the gold standard by England, British foreign trade showed substantial gains in imports and exports the first time in three years.

While these developments in the financial and business situation indicate that deflation and readjustment are nearing completion, they are not to be interpreted as proof that the country is going to emerge immediately from the present low ebb of business. They do show, however, that in some territories and in some industries the tide is turning and they lend support to the belief that the most serious feature of the present condition of industry lies in the frame of mind of the public in general.

One of the factors retarding recovery is the hoarding of money by many people throughout the country. This tendency, according to a bank magazine, is compelling banks to maintain more cash on hand than normal. Because of this condition banks cannot lend to individuals or to business interests as large a proportion of their assets as would be possible under normal times. Money hidden under floor boards, buried in the garden, safety deposit boxes or stockings does not turn factory wheels or meet pay rolls. Lack of courage and confidence, it is maintained, more than anything else is delaying actual progress. Faith in the ability of the banks and the industries of the country to emerge successfully from this depression as they have merged from every depression in the past, will aid greatly in the restoration of business and happier times.—News-Press.

LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Pretty NORMA KENT, 20-year-old secretary, marries MARK TRAVERS, millionaire's son, in spite of the opposition of Mark's father, T. M. TRAVERS. The story opens in Marlboro, Middle-western metropolis. After an extravagant honeymoon at fashionable Blue Springs the couple return to Marlboro. It is weeks before the young man can find work and he loses his first job. Then he becomes a floor-walker in a department store. In spite of poverty he and Norma are happy until his father sends for him. The elder Travers offers to take Mark into his business organization if the son will prove he can make good. Mark's first task involves a business trip to Paris. Norma must remain at home. She tries to persuade Mark not to go but is unable to do so. Norma, rudely treated at a father-in-law's home, slips away, leaving no trace of her whereabouts. CHRIS SAUNDERS, her former roommate, helps her find a job.

Mark's father employs detectives to "rail" the girl. They produce records to show Norma three years earlier had been convicted on a vice charge. In spite of evidence that this charge was framed and the girl innocent, Travers sends his lawyer to Paris. Weeks later Norma receives a letter telling her Mark has secured a divorce. Next day in the office she faints. She learns she is to have a child. Chris befriends her and saves her money.

The summer months pass dearly and in August Norma's son is born. Chris arrives one day at the apartment to find Norma starving at a newspaper. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Chapter 44
Above the sound of the car Norma heard her own voice and did not recognize it. "How could they take Mark from me," she demanded. "How could they?"

Farrell glanced at her and her pal startled him. "Say, you're all in!" he said sharply. "I'd better turn around and take you home."

"Don't, Bob, I'm all right. Tell me—how could they take Mark? How could anybody take him away from me? He's mine! Oh, they can't do it. I won't let them!"

Farrell had stopped the car before a side street restaurant. "We're going in here," he said, swinging the door of the coupe open. "You're chilled thru. I'll tell you everything I heard as soon as we're inside. Maybe I'm wrong about it anyhow. It's only that I want to warn you because there may be a fight."

"I'll fight anyone who tries to take Mark!" the girl cried. "Why don't you tell me what you were going to say something about Mark? Is he sick? Why don't you answer me, Bob?"

He tried to reassure her, helped her from the car and into the restaurant. It was a small place with a row of tools at the counter and half a dozen enamel-topped tables. There were no other customers and Farrell led the way to one of the rear tables.

"I can't eat," Norma said, impatiently. "What did we come in here for?"

A lank youth, wearing a waiter's apron approached, sparing Farrell the necessity of answering. "Coffee for two," Bob told the waiter, "and be sure it's hot. Bring some rolls, too."

He added as the youth turned away, "I'm not trying to keep anything from you, Norma. I'm going to tell you everything I heard and let you draw your own conclusions. It's a lot better to be in here where it's warm while you're talking than out in the cold."

The waiter returned, bearing two white mugs of coffee on a tray. The cups were steaming as he set them on the table with the plate of rolls.

"That'll be all," Bob said shortly, and he youth shuffled back to his seat near the front window.

Norma had not lifted her eyes. Their wide, agonized gaze clung to Farrell's. "It's like this," the young man began, leaning forward. "It didn't take long to find out Travers is back of this thing. His secretary's name is signed on the complaint. It was filed yesterday morning. Oh, of course, that is not public information but a friend of mine looked it up. Now if it were an ordinary case it would be four or five days anyhow before there would be any action. The sudden rush is another proof someone with influence—such as Travers—is interested."

"Do you know where Mark is?" Norma's voice was a half-whisper in the trembling accents.

Farrell hesitated. "Yes," he said, at the Friendship Home."

Norma half rose. "Then let's go there! Let's go right away!"

Bob put a hand out and touched her arm. "You can't do it that way," he said. "It wouldn't do you any good to go, Norma. They wouldn't let you see him. They wouldn't even admit he's there. You see, you'd have to have a court order."

"Then how can I get it?" "That's what I'm trying to tell you," Farrell said patiently. "It's going to take time. And it's going to mean a fight, too. Travers evidently wants the baby—or else he's doing all this for spite work. I don't know which. If courts were always honest and decisions were just you wouldn't have a thing in the world to worry over. As it is—well, you know what money can do."

"But you said there is a way—" "Yes, I'm getting at that. You asked how anyone could take Mark from you. Well, the legal machinery is simple. If the welfare department says Mark's being neglected—that's what the complaint was—there'll be a court hearing. It would be for the judge to decide then. That's what I'm afraid is going to happen. Of course, Mark isn't neglected! You have the hospital records—you could have the doctor's testimony—you have everything on your side! But you have F. M. Travers against you!"

Before she could interrupt Farrell went on, "I thought at first we could beat them easily. Even with Travers's influence I thought we could do it—and then I remembered." For an instant the young man hesitated. There is the testimony in the divorce case, he went on slowly. "They might introduce that. It would beat us!"

The color drained from the girl's face.

"Oh!" The exclamation was tortured.

"Oh, Bob—!"

"Maybe I'm all wrong about all this," Farrell hurried on to say. "It's a lawyer's business to try to anticipate his opponent's moves. That's why I've studied the black side. If I'm wrong then we've nothing to worry about. I'll be glad to go ahead with it and do all I can."

Apparently Norma had not heard. "You mean they could take Mark away from me?" the girl gasped. "Take him to keep him?" Her voice that had been a whisper rose hysterically. "I won't let them do that! I won't let them! Do you hear me? I won't let them do it!"

Farrell took both of her hands and held them. "Norma!" he said sharply, "you've got to control yourself! Do you want everyone to hear you?"

The words were useless. "I won't let them do it!" Norma declared fiercely. "There must be some way! I'll kidnap him, that's what I'll do! You've got to help me—!"

"I'm trying to help you!" There was authority, commanding quality in Farrell's voice. "I told you there's a way you can fight back at Travers and I'll help you with his own weapons. I do not like to suggest it to you but it's the only way I know."

"Tell me, Bob, I'll do anything you say!"

"Wait until you hear about it before you decide. I want you to talk to a friend of mine, Lyle Flynn, the district attorney. I believe he can help you."

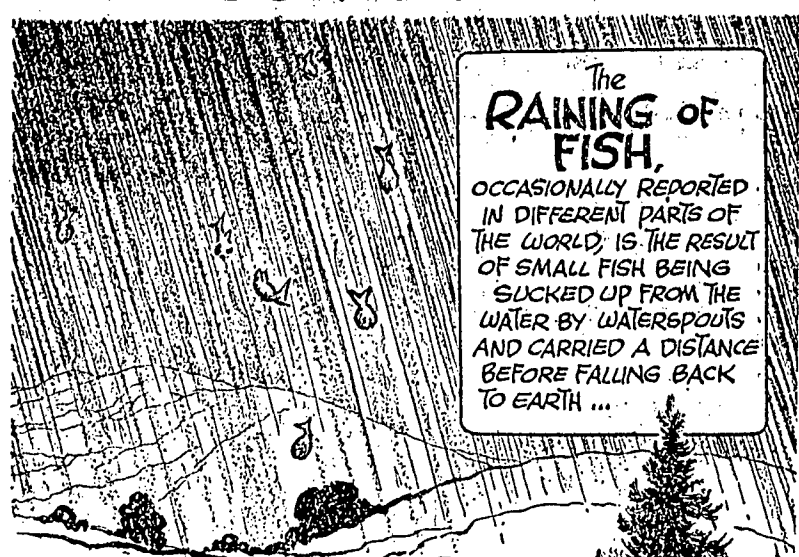

"What can he do?" Farrell's voice lowered. "Flynn's out to get Travers and the crowd he leads in with at the next election," he said. "I've known him ever since he was in law school. Took a couple of classes under him. We hear a lot of politics in our office. It's common knowledge Flynn would like to be governor. He's been collecting evidence to use in this fight ever since he's been in office."

"But what has that to do with me?" "Everything. If you will tell Lyle Flynn how you were framed on that charge three years ago, how you were convicted without a shred of evidence and sent to Mount Florence for two months it would be the best campaign material in the world. Exactly that he needs to expose what's been going on for years. Every lawyer knows about the framing and the fee—jilting but nobody's been able to prove it. Flynn's a holy terror when a gets started. He can make noise; so they won't dare bring up those old charges against you. He'll know the quickest way to get Mark back."

"When can we see him? Can we go tonight?"

"Wait a minute, Norma, you've got to remember all this isn't going to be pleasant. There'll be publicity—your name in the newspapers and all that. You ought to think about it—" "But I don't need to think. How can I see Mr. Flynn? Will you go with me?"

"Of course, if you decide it's the thing to do. You'd better talk to Chris about it. I'll drive you out to the apartment now if you're ready."

Norma arose. "Alright, we'll talk to Chris about it."

It was ten o'clock the next morning. Norma sat clutching either arm of a high backed chair. She looked very tall and child-like. Bob Farrell was at her left.

The man at the desk before them smiled encouragingly. He was a handsome man, apparently in the middle forties. He was well dressed, almost dapper in appearance. His hair was grayed over the temples but his cheeks had the warm color of a school boy's. Lafayette Flynn either in his private office or at a dinner party had a remarkable faculty for making his neighbors feel at ease.

"Bob sketched the affair to me roughly," Flynn said to Norma. "And they desecrate the word by daring to call these courts of justice! My dear child, you have my utmost sympathy. You say this happened three years ago?"

"It's almost four now," Norma said. She gave the date. "I was 17 and I'd been in Marlboro two months going to business college. There was another girl in school I was going to meet that night and we were going to a movie."

"We'd met before on a street corner near my rooming house. I went there and waited half an hour but she didn't come. I was just ready to leave when a man came up to me and spoke as though he thought I was some one he knew. He was nice looking and very polite. I told him he had made a mistake. He begged my pardon. It was the line any masher would use only I didn't know that then. He talked about being lonesome and not knowing anyone in the city and I said I felt the same way. Then he asked me to go have a sundae. I knew I shouldn't but I was lonesome and disappointed because Alice hadn't come. Well—I went with him. As soon as we were in the place I thought there was something queer. Before I could think of any excuse to get away a policeman came and said I was arrested! I hadn't any idea where I was or what had happened until they took me to that horrible jail. The matron told me. Oh—it was terrible! I'll never forget that night or the next morning—!"

Norma hid her face. It was several moments before she could continue.

"I—I was sitting waiting my turn before the judge and crying when Mr. Stone saw me. He wanted to know what was the matter and I tried to tell him. Then he said he'd be my lawyer and try to help me. He got the case delayed. I didn't have any money and I had to stay in that horrible jail cell. When the trial came a week later I found out that the man who had seemed so polite and nice was a stool pigeon. Mr. Stone had my landlady and some people from the business school as witnesses but it didn't do any good. It was—"

"Just a minute!" Flynn interrupted. "Do you suppose you would recognize that man's face if you saw a picture of him—the one who invited you to have the sundae?"

"I can see him now!" the girl said. Flynn opened his desk drawer and drew out three photographs. He handed them to Norma.

"One of those?" he asked.

With a little cry the girl nodded.

Head of Steel Institute Believes Recovery Is In Sight.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Oct. 27.—(P)—The business barometer will soon begin to rise, Charles N. Pitts, Boston, president of the American Institute of Steel Construction, told the opening session of the organization's annual convention here today.

"However, we have now passed through two years of tribulation and trial, and it seems now that there are signs that the business barometer has ceased to fall and that the time when it shall begin to rise is not far distant."

Wheat and Corn Advance on News of Board Sales

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(P)—Stirred by reports that France had about completed negotiations for the purchase of 20,000,000 bushels of United States government sponsored wheat, the market late today outdid the season's high price record. It was further reported that France would need to import 50,000,000 to 70,000,000 bushels of wheat before August next. The news caught the wheat pit almost bare of offerings, and the market jumped rapidly. Wheat closed strong, 2 1/2c to 2 3/4c up, corn 1c to 1 1/2c up, oats 5/8c to 3/4c up and provisions unchanged to 7c off.

National Party Expected to Win British Election

Majority of 200 Seats Is Expected by MacDonald's Coalition.

Voting Delayed by Fog

Trouble Is Experienced in Finding Polling Places—Bell Ringers Sent Out As Guides.

London, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Thirty million British voters, laborer, collier and cockney, entered the election booths today and wrote on sheets of paper eight inches square their prescription for the land's financial ills.

As the tumult and shouting of an unprecedented campaign died, two leading newspapers, on each side of the issue, this morning rated the importance of the decision.

"They are called upon," said the Times, which supported Ramsay MacDonald's call for a "doctor's mandate" for the national government "to make a decision which in a single day will preserve or destroy the value of British currency and the solidity of British credit."

See MacDonald Victory
"They are called upon," said the Daily Herald, opposition organ, "to declare that the budget shall be balanced, but not by plundering the poor, and that the currency shall be safeguarded, but not by groveling to bankers."

The consensus of political observers was that the National government would win with a majority of up to 200 in the House of Commons, which would be ample to satisfy Prime Minister MacDonald's "doctor mandate" request.

The first result of voting, a mail vote recorded last night, resulted in the victory of Major Ernest Evans, Liberal, member for Wales University and rated as an opponent of the National government. He won over his opponent, an Independent, by a considerably larger majority than he received in the last election, in 1929.

1,286 Candidates
The total number of candidates for the 615 seats in the common is 1,286.

Early voters in some London districts had difficulty locating the polling booths because of a thick fog. Reports from outlying sections of the city said that traffic was tied up. The fog developed into the thickest of the autumn.

In one district bell ringers were sent out to guide the voters to the polls. "Follow the bell," shouted the men as they changed their way through the murky streets.

In another district where a school was used as a polling place black arrows were painted on white paper which was laid on the ground to guide voters.

Struggle Through Fog
As the morning progressed the fog showed no signs of lifting but the voters streamed in, mostly on foot, but many in automobiles furnished by political organizations. The lights of the cars were turned on full brilliance to pierce the murky atmosphere.

In some districts queues of voters, many of them women, were waiting at the polling places when officials opened them at 8 o'clock.

Reports from the country also told of bad weather and fog which was hampering the polling. Voting began early, however, it was reported, although conditions were about the same in Lincolnshire as in London.

New Delay For Capone

Appellate Court Grants Writ of Supersedeas.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The United States circuit court of appeals today granted Alphonse Capone, a writ of supersedeas but denied him bail pending his appeal on his conviction for evading income taxes.

The gangster must remain in the Cook county jail under the court's ruling.

Judge Samuel Alschuler read the order and explained that it in no way affected the 11 years sentence and $50,000 fine imposed on Capone by Judge James H. Wilkerson. The result will be merely that the marshal may not take Capone to the Leavenworth penitentiary but keep him in custody in Chicago until his case is appealed.

Defense Attorney Michael Ahern said he would leave for Washington tonight to attempt to get one of the Supreme Court Justices to grant Capone bail. If this effort failed, Ahern said, he would ask the circuit court of appeals to vacate its writ of supersedeas so that the gangster could begin serving his term at Leavenworth rather than stay at the county jail, where he does not get credit for the time served.

Fate of Boy Who Killed Sheriff Is in Jury's Hands

Youth, 12, Admits Slaying During Attempted Burglary.

Asotin, Wash., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Twelve-year-old Hubert Niccolis, Jr., admitted killer, may learn today what penalty the state will exact from him for the slaying of Sheriff John Wormell.

A jury was quickly empaneled yesterday and enough testimony recorded to cause attorneys to predict the case would be ended before tonight.

Although Prosecutor Elmer Halsey did not say he would demand the boy's life for shooting Wormell, 72, as the sheriff attempted to arrest him for burglary, venemen who said they were opposed to the death penalty for one so young, and three women, were promptly challenged.

Through the selection of the jury and the testimony of four witnesses Hubert gazed smilingly around the court room apparently more interested in his new gray striped suit, white shirt and bow tie.

Clad thus, he was in sharp contrast with the ragged, barefoot boy dragged from Peter Klaus' grocery store by Deputy Sheriff Wayne Bezona after the shooting last August 5.

At the outset, E. J. Doyle and J. C. Applewhite, appointed by the court to defend the boy, admitted in a stipulation that Hubert killed Wormell and all that remained was a decision on the attorney's contention that Hubert was mentally irresponsible.

Deputy Bezona, who went with Wormell to the Klaus store, testified he asked the boy if jamming of the lad's revolver was the reason he was not shot also.

"I didn't see you," Bezona quoted the boy's reply.

Michigan Woman Escapes Injury in Auto Accident

A Mrs. Tracy of Kalamazoo, Mich., narrowly escaped serious injuries this morning when the Chevrolet she was driving crashed into a bank on the east side of Highway No. 71, about one and one-half miles south of Maryville. Mrs. Tracy was driving south and happened to get off the pavement. She turned the wheels to the left to get back upon the concrete, but the tire slid along the edge.

She cramped the wheels to the left more, and the car suddenly crossed the road, running into the bank. The frame of the car and the front axle were bent slightly, and some suitcases in the back of the car crashed into the windshield, breaking it. Mrs. Tracy was thrown against the steering wheel of the car and was slightly bruised.

Lawrence Linville Returns From Long European Trip

Lawrence Linville returned yesterday to his home in Skidmore after a tour of 14,000 miles taking him into eight countries in Europe. He was met in Kansas City Sunday by his father, W. S. Linville, a banker in Skidmore. Mr. Linville sailed for Europe from New York in July and left England for home on October 10. He spent considerable time in rural areas, was quest in several quaint farm homes. Through the use of a bicycle as a means of transportation, Mr. Linville was able in many cases to get off the path beaten down by tourists of the world.

Revision of War Debts Is Highly Involved Problem

Billions of Dollars and Half Dozen Nations Are Involved.

Laval Sails For France

Premier Declares Trip Has Been Successful in That Mutual Understanding Has Been Made Possible.

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—If from the conversations of Premier Laval of France, and President Hoover result revision of all war debt settlements, one of the most intricate financial structures in international history must be taken apart and rebuilt.

The juggling of billions of dollars by the world's statesmen to the satisfaction of more than half a dozen nations would be involved.

Chancellor Bruening has already been represented in Berlin as ready to open the reparations question for revision of the Young Plan.

This is in conformance with the plan of Premier Laval and President Hoover that after Germany's payments are adjusted on a basis of her ability to pay, America would view from the same perspective proposals to cut the debts of her former allies.

From congress, however, has come no definite trend of thought yet to indicate its eventual attitude toward a scaling down of war debts.

Germany's expected step is to invoke the clause of the Young Plan which permits her to seek revision of reparations upon proof of her incapacity to pay.

There is no such provision, however, in war debt agreements covering $11,000,000,000 between the United States and European nations. Any effort to curtail these payments would have to be initiated through diplomatic channels.

LAVAL'S DAUGHTER KEEPS LINER WAITING

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A queen of the sea waited five and a half hours today while the daughter of the premier of France dined with a Yankee mayor at a millionaire's birthday party.

Seeks to Force Showdown on Redistricting Plan

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 27.—(AP)—A mandamus suit asking the supreme court to compel Secretary of State Charles U. Becker to accept his declaration as a candidate for congress from the tenth district, as mapped out in the congressional redistricting bill passed by the legislature, but vetoed by Gov. Caulfield, was filed late yesterday by John F. Carroll, St. Louis. Carroll is an attorney and a Democrat.

The filing of the Mandamus proceedings made it uncertain whether Henri Chouteau, also of St. Louis, would carry out plans to determine whether the redistricting bill is effective, despite the governor's veto. Chouteau, a Republican, had announced as a candidate for congress from the "ninth district."

The declarations of both Carroll and Chouteau were refused by Becker on the ground there are no valid districts and that candidates for congress in the absence of districts must run at large.

Mrs. Judd Will Be Taken to Phoenix For Trial Tomorrow

Los Angeles, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Winnie Ruth Judd plans to start back to Phoenix, Ariz., tomorrow to stand trial for the murder of Miss Hedvig Samuelson and Mrs. Agnes Anne Le Roi, whose bodies she shipped to Los Angeles in trunks last week. Attorneys for Mrs. Judd, who said she shot the women October 17 in self defense, announced today no fight would be made against her extradition to Phoenix, the scene of the double slaying. Sheriff James R. McFadden of Phoenix was enroute to Sacramento, where he expected to obtain extradition papers from Governor James Rolph, Jr. Attorneys for Mrs. Judd intimated that an application for dismissal of the habeas corpus writ issued shortly after Mrs. Judd was arrested here last Friday would be made as soon as extradition papers were granted so that she may be returned to Phoenix.

A warrant for the arrest of Dr. William C. Judd, husband of Mrs. Judd, was issued yesterday after a complaint charging him with practicing medicine in California without a license had been made by special agents of the state board of medical examiners. It alleged Dr. Judd illegally took charge of a sanitarium here during the absence of the medical director.

Hoover Opposes Prompt Freedom For Philippines

Country Must Get Economic Independence First, President Says.

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—President Hoover said today that immediate independence for the Philippines without assured economic stability would lead to disaster in the islands.

The president said the government must be assured of stability before independence could be granted.

The president said the matter was discussed at length at the cabinet meeting but no conclusions as to policies had been reached. Independence at some time or other, directly or indirectly, has been promised the island by every president or congress since the United States took charge of the islands.

Must Avoid Haste

"The problem is one of time," the president said, adding it was in the interest of the Philippine people that their independence be assured of stability.

A stenographic transcript of the president's statement follows:

"On Secretary Hurley's return, at the cabinet meeting today we discussed the Philippine question at considerable length. We have explored the subject, but formulated no conclusive policies in the matter. These discussions will be continued.

Further Study Promised

"In the interest of the Philippine people the time element involves the necessity that independence must be assured of durability and the government of the Philippines must be assured of stability. For instance, the economic independence of the Philippines must be obtained before political independence can be successful.

"Independence tomorrow without their economic stability will result in the collapse of the Philippine revenues and collapse of all economic life in the islands. We propose to give further consideration to the whole question in the immediate future."

Navy Celebrates Anniversary With Many Ceremonies

Fleet Observes 156th Birthday as Giant Airship Is Dedicated.

Face Slash in Budget

Hoover Seeks to Cut Expenses $60,000,000—U. S. Expected to Take Part in Building Holiday.

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The glories of the past and the hopes of the future are entwined today in the Navy's observance of its 156th birthday.

In a world-wide movement, the limitation of its strength through a holiday on construction is under consideration. A slice of $60,000,000 from its next budget is before the administration.

But, on the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, an ardent exponent of its upbuilding, the Navy paused for its annual ceremony. Seafaring routine slipped from the decks of many ships in port and the service kept open house for the nation.

Giant Airship Dedicated.

At Lakehurst, modernity was symbolized in the dedication of a new queen of the air—the giant airship Akron.

From the rejuvenated decks of Old Ironsides, Secretary Adams will recall tonight the magnificent traditions of America's men of the sea.

In seeking, at the request of President Hoover to decrease its 1933 budget, Navy officials recommended the inactivity of Old Ironsides. The president has, however, indicated disagreement with the idea.

On the eve of the Navy's celebration Mr. Hoover described "the first necessity" of the country as the maintenance of a navy so strong and so efficient that no enemy could ever attempt invasion. Almost at the same time, though, he said "ours is a force of defense, not of offense." He added that the armed forces must be reduced to the lowest point consonant with security.

Favor Building Holiday.

Almost as he sent his birthday note to Secretary Adams, it became known that the United States would reply favorably this week to the League of Nations request for participation in a one-year armament holiday. The proposed holiday, in which 52 nations have been invited to join, has Mr. Hoover's fullest support.

"Our problem," the chief executive said "is to assure the adjustment of our forces to the minimum based upon the outlook in the world; to strive for lower armament throughout the whole world; to promote goodwill among nations; to conduct our military activities with rigid economy; to prevent extremists on one side from undermining the public will to support our necessary forces, and to prevent extremists on the other side from waste of public funds."

Students Will Pay Part of Expense of Dad's Day at College

This year the College and students jointly will be hosts on Dads' Day which is Friday. The College in the past assumed the entire expense for the entertainment of the dads and their sons and daughters. This year, it was explained to the students at a short assembly at 10:50 o'clock this morning, that students will help the College in the finance required to entertain the dads.

On Dads' Day tickets will be issued to the students at special low prices good for the dinner at noon and the football game in the evening. Representative students on the Dads' Day committee agreed that it is better to follow this plan, with students co-operating in meeting the cost of entertainment, than to do away entirely with plans for a Dads' Day this year.

Students were asked today to report to Dr. O. Myking Mohus, chairman of Dads' Day, whether their dads were coming or not.

Last year the College provided entertainment for 600 dads and students several downtown churches and the Reslince Hall were used to take care of the overflow crowd. A good attendance is expected this year.

The invitations were sent out several days ago.

Members of early clubs and societies are also expected to be presented to the audience; and an alumni orchestra is to play, Miss Hawkins said. Sponsors of the homecoming hope a large number of former students will attend.

Fight on Head of Power Board Goes to Court

Case Tests Senate's Right to Reject Nominations After Confirming Them.

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Arguments were completed in the District of Columbia supreme court today over the right of George Otis Smith to retain his position as chairman of the power commission.

The decision in the unprecedented court test over the right of the senate to reject nominations after once having confirmed them now rests with Justice Peyton Gordon. He said he would announce his verdict "at the earliest possible moment."

It took less than three hours to argue the case, which may add a new chapter to the constitutional history of the United States. John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for president in 1924, spoke for the senate, while George Wharton Pepper, former senator from Pennsylvania, represented Smith.

Upholds Senate Action.

Davis contended that the senate rules permitted it to reconsider a nomination within two executive days after it had been confirmed. He asserted the senate was wholly within its rights in rejecting Smith upon reconsideration.

Pepper insisted that the senate lost control of the case when it confirmed Smith and so notified President Hoover. He said the senate could take no further action unless the nomination was returned.

President Hoover refused to return it on the ground the senate was attempting to encroach upon his authority.

The senate confirmed Chairman Smith, and shortly thereafter he and two other members of the reorganized commission dismissed Solicitor Charles A. Russell and William V. King, chief accountant. King later was reinstated.

Walsh Leads Fight.

Aroused at the action, the senate voted reconsideration and asked President Hoover to return Smith's nomination. Mr. Hoover declined.

Led by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, the senate voted to carry to court its fight to determine finally the dividing line between executive and legislative authority.

At the same time, Justice Gordon's decision will permit the power commission to go forward with matters which have been held up pending fixing of Smith's status.

Truck Operators Hear Explanation of Recent Laws

Large Number Attend Meeting Conducted Here by P. S. C.

All Must Keep Records

Accounts Will Be Used in Part for Rate-Making Purposes, Judge J. Fred Hull Points Out.

The complexities of the new bus and truck laws passed at the last general assembly were explained to a large number of truck operators of Northwest Missouri at a conference held in the courthouse under the auspices of the state public service commission this morning.

Out of the discussions came the information that the laws do not affect the big percentage of the truck operators of the vicinity and yet the complexity of the laws are such that some will come just under the line.

Those who transport their own goods and those who use a motor vehicle explicitly for the transportation of farm products from the farm to the market do not come under the law. Also, those operating less than ten and a half trucks do not need heed the regulations as the laws of this act do not affect them.

Judge Hull Attends.

The public service commission held the meeting in Maryville upon request and sent D. D. McDonald, chief counsel of the commission, and Judge J. Fred Hull, member.

Both took part in the discussions. Mr. McDonald interpreting the law as it appears to him. However, there are parts of the law which may have to be decided in courts and Mr. McDonald said he was giving his interpretation.

There are, however, many sections of the motor truck law which are definite and which govern the manner under which the truckers may operate. It was conceded that those who were operating on December 1 of 1930 and who make their application for certificates of convenience and necessity by December 14, 1931, will be granted certificates.

Must Keep Records.

Forms may be secured on which to make the applications for the certificates by writing to the public service commission at Jefferson City. As the laws are new and the commission has not had any hearings, some of the provisions will necessarily have to be tentative, it was said at the meeting this morning.

One thing is certain, the truck operators who conduct a business for hire and who do transport in one vehicle other than farm products, will have to keep a record of their business. These records will have to be submitted, if requested, to the commission for the determination of rates and schedules.

In all probability the rates as submitted by the truck operators will be placed in effect, unless there is a difference between operators and then a hearing will be held for arbitration of the schedules.

No Unreasonable Demands.

Mr. Hull told the truckers that the commission will deal sympathetically with them as possible and make no unreasonable demands. "We will try to help you all we can," he told the truckers.

The commission has for its purpose the regulatory methods and it is up to the other departments of the state for the enforcement of the regulations. However, Mr. Hull reminded the men that the highway patrol would be on (Continued on Page 4.)

Progressives to Meet

Congressmen Will Map Plans to Control House.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 27.—(AP)—The Capital Times today said that Wisconsin's eight Progressive congressmen would meet here within a few weeks and invite Progressives from other states to join them in a plan to force consideration of their demands by the 72nd congress under threat to vote with the regular Republicans on the organization of the lower House.

"After the Madison meeting the legislative program agreed upon, which will probably contain certain definite proposals for unemployment and agricultural relief will be made known to House Republican leaders," the Times said. "If they refused to agree that such measures shall come to a vote under Republican control, it is likely that the Progressives will go over to the Democratic side in the organization of the House."

The Times said the Progressives will hold the balance of power because of the close division of the lower branch of congress.
